Introduction

Interviewer: This interview is being recorded in writing. Please state your name and role.

Interviewee: Darren Kuczma. I'm the evening cashier.

Interviewer: Date and time of this interview: 2026-01-02T09:35:00-05:00. Do you understand you're expected to answer truthfully?

Interviewee: Yes.

Interviewer: If you don't know or don't remember something, say so. Agreed?

Interviewee: Agreed.

Background Questions

Interviewer: How long have you worked this job?

Interviewee: A little over a year.

Interviewer: Describe your normal duties on an evening shift.

Interviewee: Register, customer checkout, counting down the till, basic cleanup, and locking my register area when I'm done.

Interviewer: Who do you normally report to?

Interviewee: The store manager, Marla Chen.

Interviewer: Do you have access to the cash drawer and the safe?

Interviewee: The drawer, yes. The safe, no. I don't have that code.

Interviewer: Are there cameras covering your register area?

Interviewee: Yes. There are cameras pointed at the front and the registers. I've seen the monitor in the back office.

Incident Questions

Interviewer: I'm going to ask about the incident timeframe. We will also review related items, including EV001 and EV002. Are you familiar with what those refer to?

Interviewee: I know EV001 is camera footage. EV002 is the receipt or register report, I think.

Interviewer: Walk me through your shift in order, from arriving to leaving.

Interviewee: I arrived, clocked in, and took over the register. I ran customers until close. Near the end, traffic slowed down. I started straightening the counter and organizing bags.

Interviewer: Did anything unusual happen during your shift?

Interviewee: I remember one customer being impatient about a price, but nothing extreme. No argument that lasted.

Interviewer: Did you leave the register unattended at any point?

Interviewee: Only briefly, like stepping a few feet away to grab receipt paper or bags. I didn't leave the front area for a long time.

Interview with Darren Kuczma (Evening Cashier)

CONFIDENTIAL • INTERNAL USE ONLY

Interviewer: Do you recall any system issues, like the register freezing, a drawer that wouldn't close, or a void problem?

Interviewee: The register was normal. I did a couple voids like usual when customers changed their mind, but nothing weird.

Interviewer: Did you handle any cash drops or transfers?

Interviewee: Not into the safe. I only kept cash in the drawer until I counted down.

Interviewer: For clarity, you're saying the camera coverage (EV001) should show you at the register most of the time?

Interviewee: Yes, it should.

Interviewer: And the transaction history (EV002) should match what you remember?

Interviewee: It should, yes.

Alibi Verification

Interviewer: During the key timeframe described in the case timeline (E001, E002, and E005), where were you?

Interviewee: I was on shift, at the front register. If I stepped away, it was for supplies right near the counter.

Interviewer: Do you recall the approximate time you left the building?

Interviewee: I don't remember the exact minute. After close, after the count, I left.

Interviewer: Who can confirm your presence during the shift?

Interviewee: Customers, and the manager if she was still there. Also the cameras.

Interviewer: Did you communicate with anyone by phone or message during that timeframe?

Interviewee: I checked my phone once or twice, but not a long call. I don't remember sending messages.

Interviewer: Is there anything in EV003 or EV007 that you believe would help confirm what you're saying?

Interviewee: EV003, if that's another report, might show timing. EV007, if that's a log, might show access or something. I don't know exactly what they contain.

Closing

Interviewer: Is there anything else you think is important about your shift that we didn't cover?

Interviewee: Just that it felt like a normal night. I didn't see anything that stood out.

Interviewer: Are you willing to be contacted again if follow-up questions come up after review of EV001, EV002, EV003, and EV007?

Interviewee: Yes.

Interviewer: Interview concluded on 2026-01-02T09:50:00-05:00.

Interviewee: Okay.

Interview concluded at 10:21. Subject provided voluntary statement. No coercion or duress observed.
